CHIREE KAMFER AND JOY GABBI ANDREWS.
LADIES TAG-TEAM

Feeling fabulous is every women's desire and #KCBreakfast had the pleasure of having Chiree Kamfer in studio to share some tips on how to look great on a budget. This entrepreneur used the time during lockdown to build her brand Cocherry. Founded in 2019, Cocherry managed to make their first sale in March 2020 with the aim to show the average woman that you can look and feel beautiful on a budget.

SA influencer and publicity guru Melanie Ramjee also joined #KCBreakfast to share her journey in the communications industry in SA. Her company Tutone Communications has represented many local and international lifestyle brands. She also worked closely with the successful SA Special Olympics team and spoke passionately about her involvement with this organisation. Melanie Ramjee is the founder and MD of Tutone Communications.

#KCBreakfast hosted the talented Leilani Gertse who gave a special performance showcasing her violin skills.

As we continue celebrating our Women Heroes this month, we look forward to listening to many more inspirational women on the #KCBreakfast show.

DIEUWKE- JEAN LINEE VISITS #KCDRIVE

On the move with Dieuwke-Jean Linee

DIEUWKE-JEAN LINEE

The always inspiring Paarlite Dieuwke-Jean Linee joined Brad and SeanJ on the line this week, as she donned the cape as one of our many Women's Month Heros on KC Drive.

The 27 year old fell in love with Art at the age of 6 and in 2010 she was among a select few learners chosen at La Rochelle Girls High School to study visual arts as an additional subject at the Jack Meyer Art Centre in Paarl.

As they say 'The rest is history'.

Diewke-Jean's work will be showcased this month at the Koena Art institute in Observatory, Cape Town to celebrate women, and is dedicated to South African women who greatly contributed to the national landscape in their respective fields.

MERCIA MOSES VISITS KC@WORK

MERCIA MOSES

Mercia Moses has a heart for helping young people. She is a shepherd at Salt and Light Kids, where she teaches the gospel of Christ to young children. And she is also a coordinator at education consultancy Change within Development and a pastor at Ephphatha Ministry.

Mercia had a traumatic upbringing, but she rose above it and now helps others who experience the same difficulties she once did.

Born and raised in Paarl East, one of her earliest memories was of her mother moving her and her siblings around because they did not have a place to call home. They eventually got accommodation at Magnolia Flats in Paarl, and her father came to live with them. But, her father lost his job and started selling drugs from their home—this opened their world up to danger.

"Our lives took a turn for the worst. I never felt safe in my own home, and gangsterism and drugs became part of my life. There were always strangers moving through the house, and I did not feel safe," Mercia said.

When Mercia was 17, someone walked into their home and murdered her father. The cycle of drug dealing in her family continued with her brothers when they also joined gangs and started doing drugs. But, despite her family's difficulties, Mercia said her mother taught her how to love people. "I would watch her give food to the hungry and homeless, and instead of being scared, I started taking care of my brothers and the young boys recruited to gangs."

"Today, Mercia still invites young people into her home to serve them food.

"The hardships I went through have moulded me into the person I am today. I relate better to people and understand that some people are on the streets because of unavoidable circumstances. I was able to build a better life for myself, but not everyone is as blessed. I will continue to treat everyone with respect and love."

Her advice to women this Women's Month is to speak up.

"Whatever you are going through, speak up. You would be surprised at how many people can assist you. You are a jewel, and you deserve happiness."

GLADYS SENYANI VISITED AVRIL ON #KCLUNCH

Local NPO Community Cohesion making a difference

GLADYS SENYANI

Gladys Senyani, a Community Worker and Protea of the Valley joined Avril on KC Lunch to talk about her NPO, Community Cohesion. She is also an Auxiliary Worker and works with abused women. They also assist them at court.

They work in Mbekweni where there's a lot of gender based violence. Most are of sexual abuse. She said that most of them don't want to leave their partners, because of fear for their life. Those that decide to leave are given the option to stay in a Safe House.

“At the Thuthuzela Care Centre, we are helping the clients transform from victims to survivors. We are also educating communities on gender-based violence and urge women not to stay quiet if they are in danger.”

“I told myself, after school, I'll study social work because I like helping people. Even though I didn't have much, I wanted to give back to others. I love my job because I get to help others. I'm happy to positively impact the lives of those who cross my path.”

Another Paarl Super Star in the Bok Squad

MOODIE PLAYING FOR THE JUNIOR
BOKS

Bulls head coach Jake White believes that young star Canan Moodie has what it takes to play 100 Tests for the Springboks after the outside back was called up to the national squad for the first time.

Moodie linked up with the Springboks squad on Monday after head coach Jacques Nienaber called up the teenager for backline cover after it was confirmed that wing Kurt-Lee Arendse had been suspended for four weeks.

White was full of praise for the 19-year-old, who can play various positions across the backline and has shown maturity since bursting onto the professional scene last season, featuring prominently for the Bulls in their charge to the United Rugby Championship final.

“He’s got everything and, to be fair, he’s actually a centre and that’s the irony of the whole thing. He’s playing wing and full-back but he’s actually a 13,”
