HELP FOR MATRIC CLASS 2022 #KCLUNCH

With exam season in full swing, local magazine Kuier has created a video series called Kuier Matric Class 2022.

Project leader Ernusta Maralack spoke to Avril Esterhuizen about it.

The project aims to assist matriculants in eight subjects through these video classes.

Each subject has between 10 and 12 lessons that are prepared by experienced teachers.

You can view the videos on the YouTube channel MySkool.

This week KC107.7 and the local CANSA office hosted the Paint Paarl Pink event to create mass awareness for Breast Cancer Month.

Throughout the month, the station broadcast interviews with a wide range of people to talk about their cancer experience.

NGO's shared their work and challenges and survivors spoke about their inspirational personal journeys.

On Wednesday, hundreds of supporters dressed in pink came out to form a human chain to amplify the message of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

People from all walks of life came together and managed to close Main Road, Paarl for a few minutes.

Medical science has come a long way in the treatment of cancer and this was evident through the many stories of hope that were shared on air during October and on the day.

CANSA as an organisation must also be commended for the amazing work they do in helping cancer patients through their various interventions.

"Thank you to all who helped to make this event possible especially the team from CANSA, Western Cape and the highly energised KC107.7 team who came out to support and be part of the action," said Naushad Khan- Communications Officer at KC107.7.

CHUMA NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT #KC@WORK

Chuma, who hails from the Eastern Cape, moved to the Western Cape, Wellington in pursuit of a better life to later matriculate at Ihlumelo Secondary School in 2021.

In the midst of furthering his studies at Boland College, he decided to pursue his passion for music in the opera genre. Recently, Chuma auditioned at the biannual national Interntaional Presentation of performers (iPOP!) where he was successful.

He was then selected by the directors of DMH Talent Agency and Scouts iPOP Los Angeles, to attend the iPOP! Convention in Los Angeles, California in 2023.

However this opportunity needs one to source funding amounting to R100 000 covering all costs of the trip to LA. Chantal Bezuidenhout from DMH said "we would love to have Chuma in our group to experience the success that iPOP! provides"

Determined to make it, Chuma is even cutting grass of Wellington residences, with hopes of reaching that financial goal.

Excellent in his singing, Chuma would appreciate any amount of donation from the public.

LIBBOK, ROOS NAMED STORMERS' BEST

The DHL Stormers awards evening belonged to flyhalf Manie Libbok and No 8 Evan Roos, the big winners at the ceremony alongside promising youngster Sacha Mngomezulu.

The Western Province Rugby Union hosted its annual awards ceremony at Kelvin Grove, Cape Town on Tuesday night, and the Stormers had plenty to reflect on with pride, including winning the inaugural Vodacom United Rugby Championship.

The 25-year-old Libbok was named Stormers Player of the Year, while Roos (22) was crowned the Stormers Players' Player of the Year.

Both players were called up to the Springbok training squad this week, along with Junior Springbok skipper Mngomezulu, who walked away with the Breakthrough Player of the Year award.

Damian Willemse received the BrightRock Needs-matched Award, for his selfless and unsung contributions, with WP captain Nama Xaba named the Player of the Year for the Currie Cup campaign.

Frans Malherbe, Steven Kitshoff, Brok Harris, Deon Fourie and Juan de Jongh were all honoured with special caps for making more than 100 appearances for the Stormers.

Head coach John Dobson said: "We have an incredible rugby system and it was wonderful to see guys like Manie and Evan recognised for their important contributions to the Stormers' successful campaign, along with all of the other winners.

"The strength of our clubs, schools, women's rugby and referees is a major point of pride and this whole environment plays a big role in the performance of our Stormers.

"It was fantastic to celebrate what has been achieved in the last year and we are looking forward to building on this in the future."

Full list of award winners:, WP U20 Player of the Year: Lukhanyo Vokozela, WP U21 Player of the Year: Keke Morabe, Breakthrough Player of the Year: Sacha Mngomezulu, WP Girls' School Player of the Year: Logan Welmann, WP School's Player of the Year: Zachary Porthen, Club Rugby Player of the Year: Jacques van Zyl, Club Rugby Sevens Player of the Year: Ashton Hendricks, Referee of the Year: Aimee Barrett-Theron, WP Women's Player of the Year: Sinazo Mcatshulwa, WP Player of the Year: Nama Xaba, BrightRock Needs-matched Award: Damian Willemse, Beyond Rugby Award powered by SunBet: Ernst van Rhyn, Stormers Player of the Year: Manie Libbok, Stormers Players' Player of the Year: Evan Roos
